I. Certified Translation Professional (CTP) Overview

The CTP Designation is the only 100% online certification program designed exclusively for those professionals who work in or would like to begin working in the translation industry.

The CTP program is an educational training and certification program for translation professionals. We provide a means for those professionals currently working as translators and those who would like to join the industry to certify their knowledge in the industry. Everyone who holds the CTP Designation is held to a high level of ethical guidelines and has passed an examination testing their mastery of knowledge in translation.

The CTP Designation Program is modeled after many online courses offered by Ivy League institutions. The CTP Designation is a self-study program; the exam is administered online and accessible from your place of work or home. Our examination system uses a dual-layered, IP tracking and password protection system, which ensures that you do not have to attend a testing center to complete your testing requirements. The online examination must be completed within 3 hours, which is more than sufficient time for those who have read and reviewed the required materials.

In addition to the benefits of gained knowledge, industry recognition, résumé adjustments, and better career choices, our team provides additional benefits to CTP Designation members such as résumé feedback and editing, career advice, and links to online resources which can help grow your business or career.

II. CTP Examination Details

The Certified Translation Professional (CTP) together with the Global Translation Institute (GTI) has established an online certification program to enable professional translators to demonstrate that they meet high professional standards. Translators who pass a written examination are certified by the CTP in a specific language pair and direction (from or into English). For further information, please register to receive our email alerts, which educate you on how the program works and provide you with program updates.

The CTP Designation Program is currently available for 22 different language pairs. Our exam evaluates participants' abilities to translate in both directions. For example, if you choose the English-Spanish language pair you will be tested on translating from English into Spanish as well as Spanish into English. The language options are: English, French, Chinese (Mandarin), German, Italian, Russian, Spanish, Arabic, Portuguese, Bulgarian, Hungarian, Japanese, Greek, Korean, Polish, Dutch, Irish, Romanian, Hindi, Thai, Indonesian, Punjabi, and Danish.

The CTP program provides participants with a broad foundation of knowledge that allows them to gain specialized training in the translation industry. While nothing can replace years of industry experience, the program aims to increase the breadth of knowledge that current industry professionals hold and assist those individuals transitioning into the translation industry. Toward this end, we have constructed the CTP certification program to provide a strong base of industry knowledge. The exam will certify you as a professional translator, and it will ensure that you possess professional competency in translating.

The exam tests individuals on their abilities and knowledge within a specific language pair that they are specialized in. For example, a participant may specialize in English to Portuguese translation or the other way around. The CTP specialized training can be applied to many types of translation jobs and career paths.

IV. CTP Exam Preparation

A. Preparation

Candidates should purchase all the reading materials and follow the outline provided within this study guide. The keywords provide some additional ideas on what to pay attention to in the readings, but they do not cover everything that will be in the exam. The CTP exams are conceptual in nature and require more of an understanding than a great ability to memorize facts.

Preparation time required for this exam depends on each candidate's current knowledge, experience, reading speed, and comprehension. It is impossible to calculate how much time a specific individual would need to prepare, but we suggest 75-100 hours of reading and study time.

The exam is a 3-hour exam administered online. To complete the exam in the allotted time requires mastery of the core concepts covered in the required readings. Those who have not read the material may have difficulty in completing the exam within the 3-hour time limit.

B. Structure of the Exam

- The certification examination is a 3-hour, online, open-book exam in a specific language pair (i.e., one specific source language and one specific target language). The exam is designed so that those confident in the material and languages will be able to complete the exam on time.
- The exam presents 80 multiple-choice questions, two essay questions, and two passages of approximately 150-175 words. Each passage is to be translated into the target language of your choice.
- The two passages are mandatory for everyone to successfully pass the exam. All of the passage translations must meet the CTP certification standards for a passing grade of 80%.
- The CTP Designation program is the most challenging, globally recognized translator certification program that can be completed 100% online.

2. What are three reasons for the importance of cultural awareness when working as a professional translator?

Translation Sample

The topics to be translated in the exam may vary. The following is a sample of a paragraph to be translated from English into the target language:

Etymology

Etymology is the academic study of the origins and evolution of different languages and etymologists can trace the roots of English words back in time through European languages (mostly French and German as well as Spanish and Italian), Latin, ancient Greek, and even further back to the early Indo-European languages. Because English has absorbed so much from other languages-half of all words in English either come from French or share a root with a French equivalent-people who speak a language related to English can guess the meaning of English words far more easily than people who don't speak one of those languages. When you learn a new word, record some of its related word forms, and identify the root. When you see another word with the same root, use your knowledge of the original word to guess the meaning of the new one.
