What is the CTP Designation?

The CTP Designation Program is a designation program for translation professionals, corporate or freelance translators, and those looking for continuing education within the industry.

The CTP Designation Program is modeled after many online courses offered at Ivy League institutions. The CTP Designation is a self-study program and the exam is administered 100% online. The online exam must be completed in 3 hours; We offer a challenging program while providing the necessary learning tools to help ensure participants are successful.

The CTP Designation is sponsored by the Global Translation Institute (GTI) which is fast growing global member professional networking association. It was founded to create an international forum of translation professionals who can openly help each other and offer resources for others to advance their careers and business interests.

This translation certification program is not only designed for translation professionals but also designed by translation professionals.
